UNC CHARLOTTE

Faculty Director, Levine Scholars Program

The University of North Carolina at Charlotte invites applications and nominations for the position of founding Director of the Levine Scholars Program, a new major scholarship for merit students. Reporting to the Provost and Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs, the Director provides leadership and direction for the Program.

The Levine Scholars Program, funded through a generous gift of the Leon Levine Foundation, is designed to be a unique merit-based scholarship program, attracting exceptional students from throughout the United States. Combining the resources of a top-tier public university with the comprehensive opportunities offered in community service and commerce by the Charlotte region, Levine Scholars have the opportunity to prepare for a life of learning, service, and leadership. (Scholars home-page: http://levinescholars.uncc.edu/levine/faqs.html).

Each Levine Scholar receives a scholarship for tuition and fees, and room and board. The program includes four summer experiences, beginning before the freshman year and culminating with an international experience. Reflecting the Levine's commitment to improving the greater good, each Levine Scholar has access to a service grant to implement a project of his or her own design in the community.

Fifteen exceptional student leaders will be selected each year, building a full complement of 60 Scholars. Over the two years, the monetary value of the scholarship is approximately $80,000 for in-state residents and $137,000 for out-of-state residents.

UNC Charlotte is the only doctoral-granting institution in a dynamic urban region of 8.8 million people and offers unparalleled educational opportunities to a culturally diverse student body of more than 21,000. (University home-page: www.uncc.edu).

The Director, supported by a full-time associate director and support staff, is responsible for leading a major scholarship program, including budgetary and administrative oversight, strategic planning, development, and external relations. In addition, the Director will act as the campus liaison to the Levine Foundation and their representatives and work with the advisory board. The Director is expected to teach in the program and interact with Levine Scholars.

Required qualifications include: a Ph.D or appropriate terminal degree; a record of achievement in teaching and scholarship that merits a tenured faculty appointment; demonstrated credentials in academic leadership and administration; a commitment to diversity; the ability to attract external funding; and the ability to develop and sustain excellent relationships within the University, business and civic communities.

Experience in merit-based scholarship and/or honors programs is desired.

Application Process: Qualified candidates must apply electronically at https://jobs.uncc.edu. The position number is 9783. Only electronic submissions will be accepted. Please attach a letter of interest responding to the job description, a CV, and contact information for three references with your submission. References will not be contacted without permission of the applicant. Reviews of the applications will begin January 29, 2010, and continue until the position is filled.

Further details on the position and the Levine Scholars Program may be found at http://www.provost.uncc.edu/searches/LevineDirector.htm.

Confidential nominations may be submitted via U.S. mail to the Search Committee Chair: Dean Nancy Gutierrez, c/o Office of Academic Affairs, UNC Charlotte, 9201 University City Blvd., Charlotte, NC 28223, or to excellence@uncc.edu.

UNC Charlotte is committed to equality of educational opportunity and is an affirmative action employer. Minorities, women, and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply. Finalists are subject to educational and criminal background checks.

Graystone can manage every request on an individual basis to accommodate decentralized recruitment.

Step #1: Recruitment Request
Ad copy sent to Graystone requesting price quotes for specific media.
(ask for editing and/or additional media options with the initial request.)

Step #2: Confirmation
Within 30 minutes sender is notified of receipt and the request is sent to the design team.

Step #3: Layouts & Quotes Prepared
Within 24 hours quotes are returned with print ads set in pre-approved template with cost and deadline for each source. Internet cost is provided for each source. When deadlines are immediate quotes are returned the same day to insure all needed placements are made.

Step #4: Ad Approval
Approvals are given for each media source required.

Step #5: Ad Placement
When approvals are returned Graystone places all the approved ads and handles all details with the media including payment.

Step #6: Billing
One invoice per job. All media placements are listed. Invoice is the exact amount approved.

No additional charges
No charge for media quotes not placed.
Director of Credit Programs
Office of Extended Academic Programs

The University of North Carolina at Charlotte seeks a dynamic, entrepreneurial Director of Credit Programs for its Office of Extended Academic Programs. The position will work collaboratively with academic departments and colleges to ensure an integrated and effective institution-wide planning, marketing, delivery, and assessment of Distance Education and Summer School programs and courses. Distance Education programs are delivered at a variety of off-campus sites, as well as online.

This permanent 12-month EPA staff position requires an earned doctorate and at least five years (ten years preferred) of progressively more responsible work experience in the administration of distance education-extension programs and/or the administration of Summer School in a four-year college or university setting. Prefer experience within a large, doctoral-level state university. For additional information on the qualifications sought, and on the position, please go to: http://continueduc.unc Charlotte.edu/cpdirector.

The University of North Carolina at Charlotte is North Carolina’s urban research university. It is the largest public university in the greater Charlotte metropolitan region, serving an area with a population that exceeds 2 million. Fall 2009 enrollment exceeded 24,700 students, including 5,300 graduate students. The University is comprised of seven colleges and currently offers 18 doctoral programs, 59 Master’s degrees, and 91 Bachelor’s degrees.

Applications must be submitted at https://jobs.unc Charlotte.edu (reference: position #3949). Attach a resume and a letter of interest to your application. In your letter, please describe how your experiences and skills are particularly suited to the position. Include with your letter the names, addresses, telephone numbers, and e-mail addresses of five work-related references. References will not be contacted without your permission. Only electronically submitted applications will be accepted. Review of applications will begin on October 6, 2010, and will continue until the position is filled.
